

CENTRAL ILLINOIS POLICE TRAINING CENTER

Leonard G. Deynzer, Director

Illinois Central College-North Campus-Cedar Hall C146-classroom C147-office

5407 N. University Street Peoria, IL 61635-0001

Phone: (309) 690-7350 Fax: (309) 690-7359

Jean Swan: jswan@icc.edu Heather Grove: hgrove@icc.edu

Training Website for Brochures: http://www.ptb.state.il.us/mtu_search/mtuclassresults.asp?MTUList=7&Submit2=Search+by+MTU

Building a Better Gunfighter

Develop a Winning Program for Yourself and your Agency

Instructor: Dick Fairburn

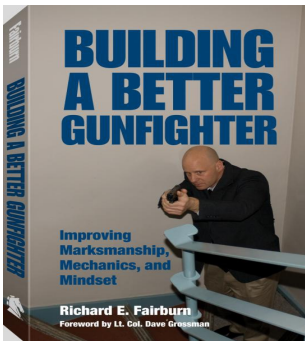

March 20, 2012

8:30am – 3:30pm

Class will meet in our classroom (above)

Enrollment Deadline: March 13, 2012

Course Size: Minimum -15 Maximum - 45

Course Object

Learn the lessons that come from more than three decades of research, and the analysis of more than 200 gunfights

“Taking the ‘top shooter’ award in your training class is cool, but winning your first gunfight is WAY cooler.

Course Content

- Why police officers routinely “miss” with 75 percent of their rounds during a gunfight.
- How to structure your training and coaching to “program” success.
- The three M’s of a comprehensive training program—and which two M’s are often overlooked

- Why your training program should be designed as a repetitive, increasingly difficult cycle.
- How you can magnify the effectiveness of Rapid Deployment tactics in your firearms training program.
- What you can do to anticipate and survive an ambush

About the Instructor

Dick Fairburn has more than 30 years experience as a police firearms trainer, researcher and author. He was a pioneer in the deployment and training of patrol rifles and is a leading researcher in the use of Rapid Deployment tactics for Active Shooter incidents. Dick currently serves as the Law Enforcement Firearms columnist for PoliceOne.com