RE: Classroom Conduct in _____ Course Name/Number

In this College classroom, enrolled students are required to conduct themselves as adults and in an appropriate manner. According to the ICC Student Handbook, Student Conduct Code, Educational Right and Responsibilities section, "Disruption of the educational process and violation of the rights of others constitutes irresponsible behavior. Faculty members reserve the right to establish a classroom environment that is conducive to learning and equitable to all students." Your behavior has been unacceptable in the following way(s):

If you choose to change your behavior, you are welcome to continue in this course. To stay in this course, sign the following Course Re-Entry Agreement and return it to me in my office before attending another class session.

If you choose not to continue in this course, drop the class by signing a drop form and taking it to your advisor.

Failing to drop correctly will damage your grade-point average and may negatively affect your future financial aid status.
