

2011-2012 Fulbright Scholars

	Ahmed Awad Almusayeb Office: 315G Email: aalmusayeb@icc.edu Phone: 309-694-8293 Ahmed is from Mafraq, Jordan. He studied English Literature in college and has taught English since 2005 in his home country. His heritage language is Arabic; English is his second language, and French is his third language. He is looking forward to sharing information about the Jordanian people and their lives including music, folklore, clothing, food, archeological sites, and the nomadic culture.
	Anastasia Arturovna Chernetskaya Office: 315G Email: achernetskaya@icc.edu Phone: 309-694-8293 Anastasia is originally from Kazakhstan and moved to Russia with her family. She has degrees in languages and literature. Her interests include painting, poetry, music and classical literature. She is interested in sharing Russian culture, styles, and holidays.
	Joyce Cristina Carvalho Office: 315 G Email: jcarvalho@icc.edu Phone: 309-694-8293 Joyce is from Belo Horizonte, Minas Gerais, Brazil. She is fluent in three languages: Portuguese, English and Spanish and her goal is to promote the teaching of Portuguese and Brazilian culture during her stay here. She enjoys sharing insights into Brazilian festivals, cooking, music, dances, art and crafts.
	Kumi Ansah-Koi Office: 223F Email: kansahkoi@icc.edu Phone: 309-694-8980 Dr. Ansah-Koi is from Accra/Little Legon, Legon, Ghana. He is a political science scholar and a senior lecturer at the University of Ghana. In 1994, he was awarded honorary citizenship in Hartford, Connecticut. His special areas of interest are research on connecting the interface between local, state and federal institutions with a focus on conflict resolution and operations of legislative bodies. He talks about a variety of subjects from the African perspective.